

FAURI LEAVING WELFARE POST

Willard J. Maxey Named State Director By Commission

Lansing, Feb. 26 (AP)—The state social welfare commission today appointed Willard J. Maxey state welfare director to succeed Fidele F. Fauri who resigned effective March 1. Maxey, one of 14 specialists ordered by the federal reorganization act to be advisors to congressional committees.

Maxey, a native of Grand Rapids, has been deputy director since 1944 and has been in state social welfare work since 1935.

Fauri will assume his new duties as "senior specialist of the legislative reference service" in the field of social welfare in Washington, March 17.

Fauri has been in social welfare work since 1934 when he became legal counsel and assistant to the administrator of the Iron County Emergency Relief Administration. He was successively state welfare department field supervisor of 15 Upper Peninsula counties, legal counsel for the department in Lansing, and after the 1939 reorganization of state welfare services became deputy supervisor of the state bureau of social security.

He was named supervisor of that bureau in 1941 and when the welfare and social security branches were combined in 1943 he was made state welfare director.

Fauri has been active in drafting much of Michigan's welfare legislation and has served as consultant for several federal welfare programs.

He is a native of Crystal Falls and is 38 years old.

Medals Pinned On Sleepy Greenland Ice Cap Rescuers

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gen. Carl Spaatz, head of the Army Air Forces, pinned medals today on six tired and sleepy young fliers shivering beside the big transport plane in which they had rescued 11 crewmen of a downed B-29 only 540 miles from the North Pole.

Three first lieutenants, two sergeants and a private made up the crew of the "Red Tailed Raider," an AAF air transport command C-54 equipped for cold country operations.

They had had but five hours sleep since Friday, when they left Greenland on a routine flight to Westover Field, Mass., and immediately were sent back to the scene of the B-29 mishap, nearly 30 miles away.

Lt. Bobbie Joe Cavnar, 22, an Oklahoman, is the youngest of the crew, pilot of the plane and the only married one of the six. Cavnar received the distinguished flying cross. The other five crewmen received the air medal.

Britain Goes On Night Shift To Level Power Load

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—A British government spokesman reluctantly announced tonight that Britain must adopt another innovation—introduction of the "night shift" in industry.

More than a third of Britain's workers must be put on a night shift "at once" to level off the load on the country's time-worn and war-impaired electric power generators, Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons.

Introduction of the night shift—almost unheard of in Britain where few fireside-loving Britons worked at night even during the war-time production crises—will mean "a revolution in the nation's social habits," an official said.

Virtually the entire nation is geared for day-time work only. Subway close soon after midnight. Most restaurants and pubs shut their doors by 10 p. m., and theaters are empty soon after.

Municipal Employees On Strike In Paris To Back Pay Demand

Paris, Feb. 26 (AP)—Municipal employees of Paris and many suburbs served notice today they would strike tomorrow at 4 p. m. (9 a. m., CST.) to support their demands for a "vital minimum" wage scale.

The announcement did not state the duration of the walkout, but officials assumed it would be a token strike, possibly for the balance of the afternoon. Communications workers recently staged a four-hour strike. Transport workers and national government workers joined that demonstration.

Michigan House OKs Purchase Of Detroit Building For MUC

Lansing, Feb. 26 (AP)—After expression of some misgiving by members, the house passed and returned to the senate a bill to appropriate $1,600,000 for the purchase of the Boulevard building in Detroit for the use of the Michigan Unemployment Commission. The vote was 63 to 13.

The senate, which had already passed the measure, will be asked to concur in an amendment providing that rents realized from the building will be paid into the general fund.

MACHINE GUNS USED TO STOP BELGIAN RIOT

fore the blows of the gendarmes and those in the rear tried to push forward.

Automobiles were overturned, and the gendarmes opened ranks before the rush of the mob.

Waited Two Years At that moment mounted police charged. The horses reared high and crashed into the pack of people. The force of the charge was spent after gaining a few feet. The cavalrymen fell back, and the torrent of humanity poured into the parliament square.

New lines of mounted troops and armored cars with machine-guns waited there behind the closed iron-spiked gates. A volley of shots and the chatter of machinegun fire split through the roar. The firing appeared aimed over the heads of the crowd, but men sprawled on the wet cobblestones.

De Frateur, himself a former prisoner of war, told the cabinet, "Nobody regrets it more than I, and I do not blame the people. They have been waiting for more than two years for the remainder of the promised payment."

He said the total outstanding payment would be 4,000,000,000 francs ($80,000,000).

Prime Minister Camille Huysmans said the government already had paid out 7,500,000,000 francs ($170,000,000), and issued an order forbidding another demonstration scheduled for Sunday.

Checkup Proposed On Expenditures Of State Agencies

Lansing, (AP)—A continuing legislative investigation of expenditures by all state agencies was proposed in the Senate Wednesday by four influential members of the senate.

They introduced a bill to set up a section of the legislative service bureau with authority to probe into all expenditures and handling of appropriations by State Departments and commissions, to check on the executive branch's control over expenditures and the proper collection of revenues.

It was sponsored by Senators Elmer R. Porter, Blissfield, Otto W. Bishop, Alpena, Harold C. Vandenberg, Holland, and G. Elwood Bonine, Vandalla.

They proposed to appoint an accountant to head the operation and provide him with a staff to work under a legislative committee of four senators, four representatives and the speaker of the house and lieutenant governor.

A bill to create the office of county public defender was introduced by Senator Charles C. Elondy, Detroit Democrat. His bill would apply only in counties of more than 500,000 population unless the voters of other counties elected to come under the bill.

The public defender would represent defendants in court who could not afford counsel, appear for prison inmates before the state parole board and handle wage claims of not more than $100.

San Diego Couple Held For Keeping Maid In Slavery

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—San Diego Wesley Ingalls, 64, identified by Assistant U. S. Attorney William Ritz as a retired lawyer and former Massachusetts legislator, and his wife, Elizabeth, 62, were arraigned here today on a federal charge that they kept a negro housemaid under involuntary servitude for nearly 30 years.

They declared their innocence and were released on $2,500 bond each. Ritz said in Los Angeles that a federal grand jury will be asked tomorrow to indict them on a charge of violating the federal slavery laws.

FBI agents arrested Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls in their fashionable Coronado home on a "confidential tip," Ritz said, and they later were arraigned on a U. S. commissioner's complaint charging they kept the housemaid, Miss Dora L. Jones, 57, in "involuntary servitude and slavery."

Pork Prices Jump Another 15 Cents; Now 80 Cents Per

Detroit, Feb. 26 (AP)—Retail pork prices soared again on the Detroit market today, jumping another 15 cents to bring the price to about 80 cents a pound.

Martin Bonkovich of the Detroit Retail Meat Merchants Association predicted the price would reach 90 cents by the weekend.

Whole sale buying lagged today in the wake of Tuesday's activities that saw the price reach an all-time high of $29.50 per hundred-weight.

Soviets Endorse U.S. Trusteeship Over Jap Islands In The Pacific

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

Lake Success, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—The United States won speedy Russian endorsement tonight on its request for immediate American trusteeship over the strategic Japanese-mandated islands of the Western Pacific where Japan mounted her attack on Pearl Harbor, Guam and Wake.

The quick Russian approval and informal expressions from other members of the United Nations security council indicated that the United States would gain eventual approval of its request. The council however, adjourned further action on it until March 7 so the delegates could consult their governments.

Warren R. Austin, United States representative to the United Nations, formally laid this country's proposed trusteeship agreement, announced by President Truman last November 6, before the council with a request for action now. Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, spoke briefly to record Russia's approval of the principles and main terms involved in the United States proposal. He submitted three amendments to the agreement but they apparently would make no vital change in the U. S. plan.

Austin in a 20-minute speech said the United States would observe the provisions of the U. N. charter in administering the vast chain of 98 islands and satellite clusters comprising the Marshall, Marianas and Carolines.

He said the United States, as sole administering authority, could close the islands when it chose for security reasons and could erect and maintain fortifications.

He pledged the United States to abide by all international control and inspection measures that may become part of a system of international control of atomic energy, other weapons of mass destruction and conventional armaments.

The United States has served notice that it will continue to occupy the islands regardless of U. N. action but Austin devoted a good portion of his speech to detailing reasons for United States concern with the security aspects of the islands.

Alumni Ask Ouster Of 4 Alleged Reds On Olivet Faculty

Lansing, Feb. 26 (AP)—A decision by trustees of Olivet college was awaited today on recommendations by an alumni group that four faculty members be dismissed for alleged Communist activities.

The trustees, meeting here, were expected to announce their decision later tonight.

Malcolm Boyd Deha, president of Olivet college, characterized the alumni group as a "strong minority."

Meanwhile, the Olivet faculty, asserting that "none of the members who stand accused before the board of trustees is a Communist," issued a founder's statement in connection with the charges of communism.

They declared: "We take this occasion of Founder's Day to repudiate all threats, however veiled and ridiculous, to the principle of academic freedom that are contained in those charges of communism at Olivet or elsewhere."

Dean Ramsay reported that a cross was burned beside the memorial stone to the college's veterans of World War I Monday night by "unknown hoodlums."

Three students extinguished the cross after soot from the fire had blacked out the words "for Christ and Humanity" on the memorial stone.

Air Cargo Handlers Nabbed By FBI In Bond-Jewel Theft

Chicago, Feb. 26 (AP)—Three Chicago youths were arrested by FBI agents today on a charge of theft from interstate air shipment.

The Chicago FBI chief, George McSwain, said they had confessed stealing a package containing $37,500 in bonds and jewelry at the municipal airport.

The youths—Charles Youzapaits, 19, Louis Garrison, 21, and Frank L. Glocki, 17, were charged with taking a package shipped from Detroit, containing $37,000 in U. S. treasury bonds and $500 in jewelry, from the cargo of a Pennsylvania Central Airlines plane.

McSwain said the three were airline at the municipal airport.

9. Establishment of a central intelligence agency.

10. Establishment of a national security resources board with a civilian chairman, to advise the president on the coordination of military, industrial and civilian mobilization.

The act provides that the secretary of national defense would replace the secretary of war in the line of succession to the presidency. Currently, the secretary of war ranks fourth in the list behind the vice president and secretaries of state and treasury.

Assessors Report 1946 Tax Rate Not Much Over 1945

Lansing, Feb. 26 (AP)—Increased equalizations throughout the state offset a substantial increase in tax levies and resulted in an average tax rate for 1946 only 4.42 per cent higher than 1945.

This was announced today by the state board of assessors, which set the 1946 average rate at $29.1482950 per $1,000 valuation. The increase over the 1945 rate was $1.2325988.

The 1946 average rate will be levied against the assessed valuations of railroads, telephone, telegraph, sleeping car, express, car, loan, stock car, refrigerator car, and fast freight companies which pay specific taxes in lieu of all other Michigan tax levies.

Total assessed valuations approved by local boards of review increased 5.12 per cent or $368,667,032 over 1945 to a new total of $7,558,834,182, the board said. County equalized values totaled $7,966,309,710, the board said, for an increase of $614,017,120 or 8.35 per cent.

Tax levies for county, municipal, township, school and other purposes, the board said, totaled $232,204,266 in 1946, an increase of $26,959,973 or 14.14 per cent.

Air Command B29 Missing In Alaska With Crew Of 11

Elmendorf Field, Alaska, Feb. 26 (AP)—Search planes fanned westward from this anchorage Army air base today, scanning the Alaska peninsula wilderness for an Alaskan air command B29 Superfortress missing since Monday with a crew of 11.

The plane vanished on the same day 11 crewmen from another B-29 were rescued from the ice pack on the northwest coast of Greenland, where the aircraft had crash-landed after being blown off its course on a training flight from Ladd field, Fairbanks, Alaska.

Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Atkinson, commanding general of the Alaska Air Command, said the Elmendorf-based Superfortress—also on a training mission—last reported it was near Bruin Pass on the mainland peninsula north of Kodiak. Its gasoline supply, he said, should have lasted until 8:20 a. m. yesterday, and the plane was declared missing as of that hour.

Letter Tells How Goering Cheated Nuernberg Noose

Nuernberg, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—Hermann Goering managed to cheat the hangman because he knew more about German plumbing than his American captors, a reliable source disclosed today.

The informant said that the former Reichsmarshal managed to commit suicide in Nuernberg jail last October by taking poison which he had hidden in the toilet in his cell—a toilet which differed from those in the United States.

Goering bragged about outsmarting the Americans, in a farewell letter to Col. B. C. Andrus, then the prison commandant, the source said. He gave the following version of that still unpublished letter:

Goering entered Nuernberg with the poison concealed rectally. As soon as he was in his cell, he decided the German-type commode would be the safest place to hide a metal cartridge containing a vial of prussic acid.

There was a slight hump in the outlet pipe through which the water flushed and Goering gambled that the hump was high enough and the metal cartridge heavy enough so the container would not flush out. He put the cartridge in the recess and flushed the toilet experimentally several times. The cartridge stayed there.

The cartridge, green from corrosion, was found beside Goering's body when they came to take him to the gallows.

Vancouver Police Battle Gunmen; 3 Killed, 2 Wounded

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 26 (AP)—Two Vancouver police officers and a gunman were killed today in a pistol battle following a chase from a bank to the Great Northern Railway roundhouse.

A third police officer and a second gunman were wounded in the shooting that took place when police investigated a report that three men in a car were acting suspiciously at the Renfrew street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Patrolmen in a prowler car chased the three men to the railway roundhouse in the east end of the city. The three abandoned their car and opened fire.

Bodies of the policemen, Charles Boyes and Oliver Ledingham, were sprawled along the tracks and one of the three gunmen, identified by police as Douglas Carter, fell dead a short distance away.

As the two men fled down the street, other officers took up the pursuit and in the subsequent gunfire exchange a policeman and a gunman were wounded. The third man was captured a short time later.

COWS SHOVEL SNOW Hart, Mich., Feb. 26 (AP)—Oscar Kidner has come up with a method of taking care of the snow drifts that block the driveway of his Oceana county farmhouse.

He rounds up his herd of 50 cattle and drives them up and down the roadway until the snow is packed down solidly enough to hold the weight of his automobile.

HEAD OF AFL OPPOSES NEW LABOR CURBS

Landis (R-Ind) asked him these three questions which he said were based on actual cases:

"Do you think it is right to picket a restaurant if its workers don't want to join the union? Do you think it is right to refuse to deliver milk to a little corner grocer who doesn't want to belong to the union? Do you think it is right to refuse to deliver foodstuff and let it spoil?"

Green commented that unions must maintain standards at various places of business. He added that these were "isolated cases" and Congress shouldn't try to legislate for isolated cases.

Austin Is Approved As U. S. Delegate On Arms Limitations

Lake Success, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—United Nations officials greeted warmly today the nomination of Warren R. Austin, United States representative to the United Nations, as this country's member of the important U. N. Commission which will work out a program for the reduction and control of "conventional" arms.

The designation of Austin by President Truman, which is expected to be confirmed by the U. S. Senate, brought to five the number of states on the 11-member U. N. security council which have named members of the commission.

The commission, officially known as the United Nations commission for conventional armaments, may not meet for another month, informed sources said.

The United Nations had received the names of four representatives on the commission.

They are: Sir Alexander Cadogan, Great Britain.

Faris El Khouri, Syria.

Fernand Van Landenhove, Belgium.

Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil.

Accidental farm resident deaths increased eight per cent over the 1944 figure in 1945.

Science Helps Police Reduce Traffic Tolls At Evanston College

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
Evanston, Ill.—(P)—Thirty three men from police departments scattered between Brookline, Mass., and Chungking, China, recently started to school.

They form the latest, and largest, class at the traffic cop's college—the Northwestern University traffic institute.

The students—wearing the blue of the District of Columbia's metropolitan police, the Oxford gray of the Connecticut state troopers, the khaki of the Oakland, Calif., force, the chocolate brown of the Maryland state police, and the uniforms of 20 other cities and states—began four and a half months of study.

The prime purpose of the institute is to train men to plan and carry out intelligent and effective programs to keep traffic rolling smoothly, to prevent accidents, and to bring law breakers to book in their home bailiwicks.

It's tough going for the pupils—even before they get in. The newest group, the spring class of 1947, was selected by competitive examinations, interviews and a screening board from 105 applicants.

Most of the successful survivors of the tests receive either $650 fellowships or $200 tuition scholarships from the Kemper Foundation for Traffic Police Training or the Automotive Safety Foundation. Their pay continues, too.

The scholars by and large are a serious, career-minded lot. They range in rank from patrolman to captain. The average age is 32. Fifteen are war veterans.

They go to class five and a half days a week in Northwestern's capacious technological institute. Homework occupies their evenings. The curriculum includes law, traffic police organization and administration, accident investigation procedures, traffic engineering, safety education, accident investigation procedures, traffic engineering, safety education, traffic control, court work, and such seemingly surprising subjects as photography, practical psychology and public speaking.

The aim is to present up-to-date information on all elements—from engineering hazards and tracing hit-run killers through scientific whodunit methods to selling safety to the whole community.

"We not only try to make them better policemen, but the best informed in the field," explains slim, affable A. R. Forster, director of training.

Besides the book, blackboard and lecture routine, the enrollees see demonstrations of modern techniques.

They witness the chemical magic of the drunkometer, a device for testing breath for evidence of intoxication. They learn how to compute the speed of an accident-involved motor vehicle from a measurement of the skid marks.

Wesley Brown, Northwestern wrestling coach and jiu-jitsu virtuoso, puts them through their physical conditioning paces and teaches them the unscrupulous arts of hand-to-hand combat.

To round out their education, each student makes a one-week visit to a police department which has a good, going system of traffic control and accident prevention. He sees how the problems he studied in theory are solved in actual practice.

The staff of the institute serves as the basic faculty. These officials—all ex-policemen—share the teaching tasks with Northwestern professors and experts in police specialties, law, engineering, safety and related lines.

The story of this unique establishment, the only school in the United States wholly devoted to training traffic police officers, is inextricably intertwined with the story of its top director, Franklin M. Kreml.

Back in 1929—long before he earned a law degree, a variety of awards from civic and safety organizations, and a lieutenant colonel's rank, the legion of merit and six campaign stars for his wartime service with the Army Transportation Corps—Kreml was a motorcycle patrolman in Evanston.

Kreml, a neat, trim fellow had ideas and executive ability. Soon he was given the job of organizing the Evanston Accident Prevention Bureau. It was based on the principle that accidents would decline if their causes could be identified and removed. Accidents did slump. Evanston became a model traffic town.

Other cities, impressed, asked for advice. So, in 1933, the Evanston police department and Northwestern joined in sponsoring the first traffic officers training school, a two-week course. That resulted in the founding of the institute in 1936.

Four kinds of schooling for police now are offered—the four and a half month course and a three-week basic training course, both scheduled twice a year in Evanston; a two-week regional course conducted periodically at other universities; and an annual two-week advanced training conference for "old grads."

Altogether, almost 1,500 policemen have received instruction on the Northwestern campus.

The comprehensive course has been completed by 328 men from 117 U. S. and Canadian cities, 39 state police and highway patrol departments, one Canadian province, Panama, the Canal Zone, the Philippine Islands, Mexico and China.

Spokesmen cite numerous examples of how men rose in rank and responsibility after they received their certificates of graduation at the University's commencement exercises.

Advancements included: George D. Eastman, class of '42, from patrolman to chief, Seattle; James M. Lupton, '39, from sergeant to director of traffic, Detroit; Ellis M. Mower, '44, from sergeant to chief, Provo, Utah; Paul J. Price, '38, from patrolman to captain of traffic, Dayton, Ohio.

In many instances, while alumni went up the promotion ladder, motor vehicle death rates in their districts went down.

"They are doing tremendous things with what we taught them here," comments director Kreml.

Pursuing knowledge in a collegiate atmosphere may seem a far cry from chasing robbers. But these students eventually will be dealing with death more often than their colleagues on homicide squads.

Statisticians say: "For every person murdered, three die in traffic accidents."

Animal glue is divided into two classes: hide glue which is stronger and obtains a higher price, and bone glue.

Bert Solves the Labor Problem

You hear a lot about capital and labor nowadays, as if the two could never get together. But look at Bert Childers—who has 320 acres of producing land, a fair-sized herd of cattle, and two farm hands working for him.

If you called Bert a "capitalist" he wouldn't know what you meant, and neither would Spike and Sandy, the hired men. Bert works side by side with both of them; and in the evenings they sit around the fire together—sharing a friendly glass of beer or two.

If anybody has a beef—whether it's about wages or hours or equipment—they talk it over at those friendly evening sessions.

I don't say all labor problems are as simple as Bert's. But from where I sit, the basic principle applies to any farm or factory or business: A principle of confidence and mutual respect, of daily talks together in a friendly and congenial atmosphere.

SIGLER HEARS U. P. TIMBERMEN

Governor Told Of Problems At Meeting In Marquette

Governor Sigler heard the problems of Upper Peninsula timber producers at a meeting held Monday afternoon at the Northland hotel in Marquette at which forest conservation and utilization of waste wood products were discussed at length.

The governor expressed considerable interest in the affairs of the timber producers and asked many questions, particularly on the subject of the use of patented car stakes for shipment of timber.

The conference was called by the timber producers in an effort to urge railroads to utilize the patented car stakes to minimize the waste of timber now used for wooden car stakes. Attendees at the meeting included H. P. Bourke of Escanaba.

Three Problems of Industry
Gordon Connors, president of the timber producers, opened the discussion by reviewing the three matters now confronting the association members: (1) Fire protection—Michigan should modernize its forest fire fighting facilities; (2) use of metal car stakes—hundreds of thousands of young trees now being cut for that purpose can be conserved and the heavy loss in potential lumber supply thus reduced; (3) develop a use for waste products, such as branches, tops and stumps of trees that are now cut and left in the woods.

Connors stated that 88 per cent of the Peninsula is covered with forests, of which 36 per cent is owned by government (state and federal) agencies. Referring to one area of 300 square miles which has no fire protection, he urged that additional fire lanes be constructed and that the state modernize its setup.

Estimating that it cost $225 a car to equip railroad flatcars hauling timber products with metal stakes, he pointed out that several men are killed every year in unloading cars without such stakes, "while I haven't heard of a single accident in handling cars equipped with metal stakes."

He also suggested that the state hire a technician and chemist "to figure utilization of our timber resources" and that the state set up a "pilot plant" to manufacture new timber products to the end that industry can see the feasibility to come into the region.

Objections to Use
August Syverson, vice president and general manager of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railroad, told how his railroad hauled wooden stakes back to timber cutters without charge and urged that longer stakes be cut so they could be used four or five times. His "only personal objection" to the patented metal stakes is that chains used with them become mixed with the logs which then are difficult to unload. Answering a question from Governor Sigler, Syverson said that sending of cars to other areas for other purposes also is one of the railroad's major objections to the proposal, because when cars are used for other purposes, such stakes can be lost or stolen.

True ants are enemies of the termite, the so-called white ant which is also a social insect living in colonies.

Teen-Age Syphilis Rate Up 33 Per Cent

The syphilis rate among teenagers in Michigan is 33 per cent higher today than it was six years ago, according to figures released by the State Health Department.

Young people in rural areas as well as those in the cities contribute to the increase.

In commenting on possible causes for this upturn, Dr. William DeKleine, state health commissioner, said: "In many of our case investigations we find that the boy or girl has little or no knowledge of the fundamental facts about venereal disease. Some of them don't even know how syphilis is spread."

"This points to a responsibility for all of us—public health personnel, fathers and mothers, school authorities, physicians, civic leaders, the young people themselves—we must bring syphilis and gonorrhea into the open so we can understand the facts about them and know their dangers."

Perow-Conner
Wedding Is Of Interest Here

A Sault Ste. Marie wedding of interest in Escanaba, former home of the bride's parents, is that of Eileen M. Perow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Perow, and Robert Ward Conner, son of Mrs. Ward Conner, which took place Saturday, Feb. 15, at St. Joseph's church, with Rev. Thomas P. Dunleavy officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Twin baskets of orchid gladioli, combined with an arrangement of other gladioli in pale pink, decorated the altars for the service, at which 200 guests were present.

The wedding music was provided by Mary Andary, organist, who played the wedding marches: Shirley Travers Johnston, who sang "On This Day" and "Schubert's Ave Maria," Rev. John McLaughlin, who sang "Panis Angelicus" and the choir whose selections were "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy" and "Lord for Tomorrow."

White Satin Gown

A period gown of white satin was chosen by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. The gown had a yoke of net and long sleeves which ended in points at the wrist. Her veil, edged on Chantilly lace, extended over the train of the gown and was caught to a halo of seed pearls. She wore a double strand of pearls and carried white Calla Lilies, tied with white ribbon.

Mrs. Lowell Riopelle, of Marquette, aunt of the bride, who was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Toivo Kyto and Mrs. Henry Dorie, also of Marquette, wore sheer gowns. The matron of honor's was yellow, made like the bride's with accents of lace. Her Dutch cap was of yellow lace and she wore gloves and carried a fan of yellow net covered with carnations and rosebuds. The bridesmaids' gowns were identical, made with sweetheart necklines, long sleeves and full skirts. Mrs. Kyto's of rose pink and Mrs. Dorie's of turquoise blue. Both wore matching Dutch caps and lace mitts and carried matching flower fans.

Patricia Neville, the flower girl, wore a bustle frock of yellow and satin, and a matching veil and she carried a miniature bouquet of calla lilies. Daniel Perow, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Serving at best man was Glen Milligan of Grand Rapids, and also attending the bridegroom were Toivo Kyto and Arthur Young. Ushers were Lowell Riopelle, Marquette, and William Hermes, of Escanaba.

Dinner and Reception

A wedding dinner was served in the church parlors and a reception was held at the Perow home. The couple, following a honeymoon in New York City, will live in Sault Ste. Marie, at 415 East Spruce street.

Escanaba guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Perow, Mr. and Mrs. William Hermes and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Perow.

Radio In Review

By John Crosby

Hollywood—John Dos Passos once wrote a brief, brilliant essay on the career of Henry Ford. In the beginning, he wrote, there were the rutted country roads, the carriages and carts. Then came the model T, the Model A, the endless stream of high-powered trucks. The rutted roads became four-lane highways, lacing the country together. Money rolled in by the millions and Mr. Ford started collecting things. He collected whole villages; he bought among other things, carriages shops and dozens of high-wheeled carriages, a type of conveyance impelled by horses. Around the carriage shops, he restored the rutted roads. Everything was made to appear just as it was before Mr. Ford got into the automobile business.

This atavistic urge to return to the womb of progress seems to increase with success, particularly financial success. In this huge, sprawling city everyone and his sister own a car—the clerks, the soda jerkers, the shoe salesman. Santa Anita on a Saturday afternoon is a shimmering, almost frightening, sea of automobiles. The urge to drive a car is as strong as hunger until you got enough money to afford all the cars you can lay your hands on; then, deep in the soul of the successful man comes a yearning to return to the ways of his ancestors.

Robert Young, one of the more expensive actors, drives around here on a motorcycle. Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, a couple of actors who make possibly five times as much as Young, peddle through the Paramount lot on bicycles. I don't know how Louis B. Mayer gets around. Swings through the trees, probably.

Sinful as Hollywood sometimes appears in the public prints, the community on closer inspection seems gripped by domesticity. There is no experience quite so lustrous as an actress talking about her children. People have been having children for quite a while now but a movie star, I find can talk about her offspring as if she invented the process.

On Louella's program the other night, Deanna was talking about her baby. (We use only first names here; the last names are just a sort of identification tag for the rest of the country.) Anyway, Deanna made a date to appear again on Louella's program in eleven years. "I may have four children clustered around my knees then, Louella," she said mistily, like Joan of Arc having a vision.

A few hours earlier on another program called "Behind Studio Gates," Marjorie (Miss Reynolds to you) was telling a man named Carl Post that all she ever talked about was Linda.

"Linda?" said Carl, as if he didn't know what was coming.

"Linda is my baby. Two years old and the cutest little baby in the San Fernando Valley," cried Marjorie.

A few years ago, child-bearing was something for mortals, not for screen stars who sprang full grown from the head of Jack Warner. That's all changed now and since this is the most imitated of all communities, perhaps it's just as well. It's a healthy swing to the right for these glittering girls to embrace motherhood with such glowing faces. I just hope maternity isn't a fad, that's all. Next year, they might take up something else. Eating or sleeping, possibly. Maybe even breathing.

Three little words keep bobbing up in almost any conversation involving radio. The first and possibly most significant is the word "security." One of the local gags is: "So you make a million dollars but have you got security?" The second word is "sincere," which is even more widespread than "The Hucksters" led me to believe. The third is "relaxed." For some mystifying reason a man who is relaxed is considered more virtuous and more talented than a man who isn't.

The prevalence of those three words ought to interest the psychiatrists. The only explanation is that it represents a sort of wish fulfillment. Security, sincerity and relaxation are scarce commodities in the upper-bracket incomes.

There's another phrase likely to creep into the conversation but you can't blame it on Hollywood; you'll find it anywhere. "How (something) can you get?" Any adjective at all will fit in there—happy, beautiful, drunk, distinguished, anything. It's adjustable to any occasion and I notice it's even creeping into the popular songs.

Have you ever tried dropping ice cubes into hanging plants instead of watering in the usual manner? It will save time and mess.

Planning That
Garden Now Is Pleasant Pastime

By KATE PERKINS
AP Newsfeatures

Pound Ridge, N. Y.—Seed catalogues, with their colored illustrations, make every vegetable look as though it grew so perfect it would get first prize at the country fair, and so clean that it doesn't need to be washed.

I've been working on my garden plan and looking at pictures of vegetables and flowers until I feel as romantic about my next summer's garden as a 16-year-old girl invited to the school dance by the handsome boy in the class.

Right now it's time for me to leave the fireside and take some breaths of outdoor air to wipe the star dust out of my eyes.

Personally, I think these catalogues are part of a plot to keep me in my 50 by 125-foot garden 24 hours a day Saturday and Sunday, not to mention every evening of the week. Illustrations and descriptions don't mention bugs, weeds, aching backs or broken fingernails. The fact is, I'd even forgotten about last summer's failure.

But this summer it's going to be different. I may have fallen into that catalogue trap annually, but this year I'm going to be a realistic week-end gardener. I'm ordering seeds and plants according to plan: enough for my needs and pleasure—but no foolishness. I've backed up my plan with resolutions, and here's my first, preliminary series:

1. Draw a garden plan—on the back of a last year's calendar—and figure out carefully the space you want to allot to each plant, and what you'll use to replace the early stuff. Write in your decisions with indelible ink and stick it, even if your neighbor is going in for some pretty interesting experiments.

2. Treating the illustrations though they were explosives, go through the catalogues carefully and make your selections. Remember the time Swiss chard was your most successful crop and not one would eat the stuff. Also the year of the three varieties of carrots which all had the same middle-aged spread.

3. Don't get too ambitious. There was the episode of the 60 tomato vines, when you had to cut all the stakes yourself and then those baskets and baskets of tomatoes you couldn't even give away.

4. Buy plants of such things as tomatoes, peppers, broccoli, cabbage and celery, and don't pay any attention to Lorelei songs about the fun of raising them from seed. You can't afford a greenhouse this year, and the dining room is the only place with enough sun for seed flats. Anyway, you tried it last year and had to buy plants in the end.

5. Remember what you've forgotten.

Lenten Service
Plans Announced

Special Lenten services will be held at St. Stephen's Episcopal church tonight and every Thursday evening during the Lenten season, Rev. James G. Ward, rector, announced yesterday. The services will begin at 7 o'clock.

The sermon topic this evening will be "Christ and the Machine." Members of the Young People's Fellowship are asked to attend the services and have their social meeting afterwards. The service will last 45 minutes. Choir members also are requested to attend and they will meet for rehearsal after the service. This plan will be followed for the duration of Lent.

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday March 2.

Circle Meeting Postponed
The meeting of the Near East Circle of the First Methodist church which had been planned for Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. G. Bennett has been postponed.

Flowers of Persian gardens, which are widely reproduced in Oriental rugs, are common to the gardens of America—roses, zinnias, narcissi, marigolds, larkspur, chrysanthemums, etc.

gotten: your lame arms came as often from lugging that sprayer around as from your spading fork and hoe, and there is something irresistible to bugs about your garden. It's funny that the neighborhood gardens never seem to have the same amount of trouble with bugs.

6. Take an inventory of your tools and insecticides now and decide what you really need. Don't splurge on unnecessary things such as a fur-lined, motor-driven weeder with a built-in sprayer. Well, that's my first list. I'm past the catalogue struggle now and the rest should be easy. Furthermore, I'm going to do something about flowers this summer because the war is over and I'm just gardening for fun and for my figure.

I just happened to go through one of the catalogues again and I see they've developed a wonderful new rust-proof, stringless bush bean. If I change my plan to only two plantings of peas, and use that other row for beans. . . No, that would interfere with the beet and would shade the onion seeds. . . Golly, I don't know you could grow peanuts this far north. I guess I'll have to tear up that first plan and do it all over again. Maybe I'll leave out peas altogether this year. The ones you buy are really pretty good.

CROSSBREEDING OF CATTLE HIT

Holstein - Friesian Assn. Assails U. S. Tests On Hybrids

Fond du Lac, Wis.—Experiments in crossbreeding of dairy cattle by the United States department of agriculture were criticized sharply at a jam packed convention session of the Holstein-Friesian association of Wisconsin here Monday.

Prof. W. W. Yapp of the University of Illinois dairy husbandry department, a well known cattle judge, joined University of Wisconsin dairy chiefs in tossing bricks at the federal project at the Beltsville (Md.) experimental station.

The federal experiment is designed to produce a hybrid animal with superior vigor and higher production. United States experts used purebred Red Danes, Holsteins, Jerseys and other popular standard breeds in the tests.

Show Tests Failures
"We are on dangerous grounds crossing purebreds," said Prof. Yapp. "The protest I make is not against the experiment but against jumping to improper interpretations of a test not yet complete."

Since the astounding success of development of hybrid corn which increased yields and plant vigor, there have been all manner of trials to duplicate the development in animals.

According to the Illinois authority, extensive tests had been made before the Beltsville experiment, but were abandoned when recessions from crossbreeding set in. Prof. Yapp had the records to present to the Holstein breeders, whose herds are founded on the age old practice of keeping the blood lines pure.

"The problem is to keep the cross-breeds as good as the original parents, especially after the second and third cross," Yapp said. "It is my opinion that when you dilute the purebred blood lines there is a greater loss than any gain in possible hybrid vigor. Too often we have synthetic breeders working out theories with a pencil and not under actual farm conditions."

ELECTION BOARDS

Gladstone, Michigan, February 24, 1947
Editor Escanaba Daily Press,
Escanaba, Michigan
Dear Mr. Editor:

Last Thursday, February 20th, an editorial appeared in your paper "Faulty Election Boards," stating among other things, "It is clear that something is wrong in the election setup." I agree wholeheartedly. You continue, "There is no question of honesty involved, but there is a question of competence." Again I agree. As one remedy you suggest shorter working hours. Again I agree. You conclude, "The time has come when Delta County voters must demand better election service." I agree.

There is no doubt in my mind that you try to be perfectly fair in your remarks; but I am afraid when you write of competence the whole story of faulty election boards is not known to you nor to the readers of your paper. No one regrets more the error that occurred in one of the Delta County precincts than the board that served in this precinct. But what finally brought it about that all the ballots "of an entire precinct were disenfranchised"? Wasn't it because they listened to well-intended advice given to them by officials who were supposed to know? Let's pin the blame for disenfranchising these ballots where it belongs!

To bring about greater competence in processing the ballots every election board of Delta County was supposed to be represented at the pre-election school, held in the county court house on the Friday prior to the election day. Approximately forty persons from all over our county attended this school. Everyone was eager to learn some thing. Everyone looked to the instructors to teach something. Four men were present, who were to serve as instructors. Did they assist by their instruction to bring about greater competence?

One of the instructors had carefully compiled notes, errors which he had discovered in previous elections. These he clearly explained, warning all to avoid a re-occurrence. A second instructor spoke apparently extemporaneously. I doubt very much, if anyone present was benefitted one iota by such disconnected remarks. This instructor apparently presupposed that every one present was very well acquainted with all the ramifications of the tabulating of the ballots. But if everyone knows everything about the tabulating of the ballots why then go to school to learn? A third instructor insisted on it that only the blue pencil, supplied in the polling booths, dared be used by the voters. A man ahead of us turned saying something like this, while he pointed out the error of this instructor by reading to us from the "blue book", "That is not correct! Any sort of pencil or pen may be used in the marking of the ballot!" About this time one of the instructors asked for questions from among the school-ars. When one was supplied he marched over to the questioner and privately discussed the matter. Soon another questioner, engaged privately by another instructor and likewise a third one. We who sat a bit to the rear of the court room could neither hear the questions asked nor the answers supplied.

This then was the pre-election school supplied for the election boards, to make them more competent in their work and for which the tax-payers money was used to defray the expenses! Is it any wonder that "the board of election canvassers has called in approximately a dozen precinct election boards of the county to explain discrepancies in their poll books following the primary election held Monday?" I fully agree with your conclusion, Mr. Editor, "The time has come when Delta County voters must demand better election service" if in this statement you include not only greater competence of the election boards but also of the instructors for such boards!

RIALTO BLDG.ROLEO PLANS
TOLD AT MEETChairman Doug Mathison
Cities Value Of
Event To City

In reporting on the Roleo plans for 1947, Douglas A. Mathison, chairman, presented an interesting resume of roleos in the past in which he stressed the value of the celebration to the community. The advertising received by the community alone far more than offsets the cost of promoting the event, he pointed out.

His report follows:

There was begun in Gladstone in 1941 one of the most unusual and unique celebrations ever attempted by any community in the Upper Peninsula. It was conceived to revive the early interest and enthusiasm men and women the nation over devoted to the pastime of the American lumberjack or river-hog—rolling a log. With log-rolling and the rich background of the age of lumber the promoters of this celebration believed they had what in terms of good things is called a "natural," and they sought to realize its advantages and give it utmost support. Gladstone was chosen as the place and her people and neighbors' good faith the means of giving what has come to be known as the Roleo.

The Upper Peninsula being abundant in resources it was not too difficult to draw from them activities which could be used to supplement and round out the birling program. As a result the Roleo became a combination of birling, log chopping and sawing, bait and plug casting, boating, swimming, diving, archery, and many other features. It also became a means of entertainment to satisfy just about everything human interest could expect in its particular field.

The field of competition included the best the nation and the continent had to offer, and from such far off places as California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Alaska came the Herrons, the Swansons, and many, many others. From Canada such names as Marx, Pelouquin, Peck and Eisenzoph appeared to add to the colorful roster and combine with midwesterners from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan to complete the claim that the Roleo was a World's Championship event.

With the names of the persons associated with birling can be added the names of the equally famous in the other activities. Paul "Bunyan" Criss and Ed Deeks of ax and saw fame. Nationally recognized amateurs in the swimming and diving field, Tommie Thompson, Chuck Goran, Gil LaLonde, Nancy Grubb, Barbara Steichen and Lloyd LeMere of Minneapolis, Dave Gainey and his group of swimmers from Saginaw, Mich. Tony Accetta in the bait and plug casting field. Each feature has been performed by outstanding stars, and Gladstone can well be proud and pleased with them.

In the forefront, center and wake of the Roleo the nation's press, radio, camera, newsreels and feature writers were present to cover the events and carry them to the attention of readers, listeners and observers all over the land. Gladstone was spread over the map of the United States like syrup on a lumberjack's hot cake. It received in national advertising publicity that would run into thousands of dollars were its value to be so reckoned.

In our own mind the name of Billy Girard has long been associated with the birling sport. His humble feet have worn to thinness logs that have been used in exhibitions in most of the major cities of the United States, and his feats on those same logs have been performed before the royal as well as the humble. He has carried the name of Gladstone to every corner of the land, and with it his own as world's champion in the straight and trick and fancy birling. He is, whether we realize it or not, Gladstone's ambassador of goodwill and her number one name among its sportsmen. His faith in the Roleo is second to none, and his efforts to carry on, in spite of his age, as sincere as that faith. He is deserving of our highest commendation.

The effect the Roleo has on Gladstone as a whole can best be summarized in frankly admitting that its young people have become sports minded. They have watched the best in the nation perform, and with a kid's enthusiasm they have attempted to emulate each. It has taught the parents and others the lesson of cooperation with youth in that we have been encouraged to take the time and patience and effort and means to provide adequate and interesting facilities for these same kids to use. They are becoming better birlers, swimmers, divers, fishermen, baseball players and in general coming to realize the importance and worth of good sportsmanship among one another.

The Roleo has discounted any argument against its commercial worth to the community. The multitude of people who annually gather at the Roleo bowl are an economic asset to Gladstone that now and eventually will leave thousands of dollars to her credit. The three days of the Roleo are not to be set aside as the only ones in any one year that income is derived. The constant flow of tourist traffic is of equal importance because of the interest people take in the facilities which are available the year round. Many of these people would not know of Gladstone and her recreational advantages were it not for the Roleo. As we realize these advantages it is for us to safeguard and appreciate them for in terms of value received it is doubtful that any other effort could gain so much for so little.

The 1947 Roleo is now being planned. The program, combined with the Firemen's Tournament and 60th Anniversary of Gladstone and Homecoming, will cost considerably more than any previous celebration. Much of the expense will be written off by other means than direct solicitation. The remainder must be borne by business interests in general. It is for you as business men and members of the City club and other organizations to acknowledge the obligation and do all possible to assure its success and fulfillment of purpose. The finance committee will make a complete canvass of the anticipated source of funds. When they come around to you it will be well to remember that your money is an investment, not a donation. Gladstone must have the Roleo, and with your wholehearted supports gives

MANY AT CITY
CLUB MEETING

Group Named To Decide
If Full-Time Sec'y
Is Feasible

At an interesting, well attended booster meeting of the City club Tuesday evening at the Legion hall it was voted to have President Norman Knutsen name an executive committee which would determine the advisability of remaining as the City club or becoming a Chamber of Commerce, whether it is feasible to engage a paid full-time secretary and to draft a program of action for the year.

Yesterday, President Knutsen announced he had selected Charles Burton, J. J. Poffenberger, O'Neil D'Amour, Dr. George Kelly, Oliver Ohlen, John Vogt, Albert Tibergien, E. H. Noblet, Paul Verhamme, Frank Stenac, George Mathison and Mike Goodman with himself as ex-officio member to form the committee.

The first meeting of the group will be held at the city hall next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

During the evening Wallace Cameron reported on plans for the Firemen's Tournament and Douglas Mathison told how Roleo plans are shaping.

Contributing to a spirited discussion which took place during the evening were Knutsen, Ross Davis, O'Neil D'Amour, Poffenberger, Tibergien, Verhamme, Cameron, Joe Sturgeon, Ohlen, George Mathison, William Marble, A. T. Scholberg, Earl DeMars, John Vogt and Burton.

An excellent dinner was served by ladies of the Legion Auxiliary.

Choral Club Plans
2nd Social Evening

The Gladstone Choral club is now working on its annual spring concert to be presented at Gladstone high school on May 6. A variety of numbers will be included in the presentation.

The second social meeting of the year will be held next Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the high school. Noble Swenson is general chairman of the supper. Rehearsal will follow at 7:30 o'clock in the music room.

Persons who like to sing and who would like to join the club are invited to attend any future rehearsals. Returning servicemen particularly are invited to attend. The choral club was organized five years ago by Gunnar Granquist, then music supervisor in the Gladstone public schools. It since has afforded many pleasant evenings to music lovers in this area.

Each year the group has presented a Christmas concert. Numbers from Handel's Messiah were given three successive years, twice under the direction of Marie Burkland and once under Irving Johns, Jr., present director. Last year, a cantata, "The Story of Christmas" by Alexander Mathews was presented during the Christmas season.

Hints And Praise For National Roleo Come
From George Hedquist

Douglas A. Mathison, chairman for the 1947 Roleo and Homecoming, has received letters of encouragement from a number of men who assisted in the first World Championship Roleo here in 1941.

Among them are Clay Perry, who covered the event for the Saturday Evening Post and who later wrote of log rolling and the roleo for Holiday magazine; George Springer, who is probably the man mainly responsible for the start of the roleo here; Jimmy Murray, Coeur d'Alene, long connected with the sport; Paul "Bunyan" Criss, nationally known sawyer, and George Hedquist, who was here in '41 with the Michigan Lumberjacks and who regaled the thousands assembled with dialect stories.

A recent letter from Hedquist follows:

Dear Mr. Mathison:

I am glad to hear your committee is planning for the World's Championship Roleo in 1947 in conjunction with the 60th anniversary of your city and the Upper Peninsula Firemen's Tournament. Congratulations and best wishes for the most successful celebration in your growing World's Championship Roleo!

The value of these festivities is perhaps not recognized by the inhabitants of your community and the surrounding territory as much as is appreciated by the visitors, participants, and, especially, folks living in larger communities like Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Detroit, Cleveland, and many other large communities where the plans of thousands of families are made for an annual trek into Michigan to enjoy the out-of-doors during the summer months. The writer has watched this development over a period of many years and could name many examples of the growing interest in these celebrations.

When you consider the favorable publicity given in the most attractive and colorful write-up appearing in the "Saturday Evening Post" of September, 1941, entitled "As Easy As Falling Off A Log," also the attractive and interesting write-up appearing in the "Holiday" issue of July, 1946, write-ups of this nature have values running into thousands of dollars.

Your organization has a most unique celebration, that is, Log Birling can be made more and more interesting from year to year. The coming of contestants from the lumbering states of Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, and from across the border, namely, our Canadian friends, should be encouraged, together with the birlers you can get from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

The forests of America are getting more consideration than ever before, and your organization is helping to encourage the growing of timber, especially in our cut-over areas of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The growing of timber and the harvesting of timber will receive more and more attention from year to year, including the educational programs being sponsored throughout our schools, colleges and universities. You are part of this program and, with the help of the different federal agencies, including our state agencies, you can create more and more interest in this project.

As an illustration, I have seen the celebration at Manistowick, Mich., grow into a more attractive celebration yearly, and much of this is due to the aid received from the Manistowick National Forest.

The pulp and paper interests and the lumbermen should respond heartily with aid in promoting this celebration because it is to their mutual benefit.

There is another development that may take some missionary work to develop, but I believe our state universities where forestry is a major study should be encouraged to develop log birling teams; that is, states where forests and forest products mean so much to the well-being of the citizens, namely, states like Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California. Some day, in the years to come, I hope to see some colorful birling teams representing these states.

You have within your own community one of the most colorful stars in birling, namely, Billy Girard, and Billy and his family should be encouraged in every way to carry on.

The folks living in the larger communities are flocking by the hundreds of thousands to the sport shows being held in the larger communities like Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and New York, and smaller towns like Buffalo and Indianapolis. These city folks are counting the weeks and months when they can plan their vacations into the states that have something to offer like Michigan.

I understand all indications are that Michigan will have a banner tourist year. I visited with one of the officers of the Detroit Sport Show this month, and he advised great interest was being shown by the many visitors at their booth. We must not lose sight of the fact that the Michigan tourist business is the second largest business of our state; and, in order to keep tourists interested, most of them enjoy going to celebrations of various kinds held in the tourist area.

The western states should respond in sending many contestants because, as you know, the lumber industry during 1946 and the lumber industry had the highest earnings recorded, and the outlook for 1947 is very favorable for these industries in general. My reason for bringing this to your attention is the fact that these forest industries should be liberal in backing your tournament so that the prizes and awards offered the contestants are liberal and worth-while. I do not know how much encouragement you have had in the past from the various tourist agencies in the state together with the help and exhibits from the Conservation Department and the Forestry Department, but you should be given liberal aid with exhibits, together with aid from the National Forestry Division, because the millions of acres throughout your area will be under the supervision of these agencies in the years to come, super-vising the growing forests and the harvesting of the product of these forests.

Your central location with all of the natural resources you have and the beautiful setting is ideal for this celebration. Perhaps you can create more interest in your celebration by giving the following consideration.

There is in this country an organization called the National Folk Festival which, under the leadership of Miss Sarah Gertrude Knott, director, whose present address is Public Auditorium, 1220 East Sixth street, Cleveland 14, Ohio, sponsors folk festivals in districts and, also, larger gatherings like national festivals. These national festivals have been held in the larger cities like New York, Washington, Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia; and we have attended many of them with the Michigan Lumberjacks.

Miss Knott gets the different groups to perform at these festivals, that is, in their native costume; songs, music, and dances are performed, and she arranges to get the cooperation of all these different groups together with the groups coming from our public schools and recreation centers.

It would seem that Northern Michigan would have some most interesting groups who could be induced to appear at your festival in their native costumes, giving their songs, dances, and music—groups like the Italians, Finns, Swedes, Norwegians, Danes, Germans, and Poles. Your audiences would enjoy hearing these different groups; and, here in Detroit, we find that these folk festivals are very attractive and popular because they have so much to offer in native music and songs. Some of these groups will enjoy appearing in your festival because the trip and the outing would mean so much to them.

We remember years ago the National Folk Festival was held in St. Louis, also held in Chicago, also held in Philadelphia; and the result has been most gratifying because these communities have formed and developed their own folk festivals wherein these groups appear.

As mentioned before, your National Roleo is most unique and should grow from year to year, becoming more and more popular and interesting; and I hope to

CONCEIVE PLAN TO END ERRORS

Accounting Boards Take Over When Polls
Close

Gladstone will go on Daylight Saving Time on the last Sunday in April and continue on it until the last Sunday in September. It was decided at a regular meeting of the city commission this week.

The same election boards that have served in the past several elections were named to serve at the spring election in April.

However, it was voted that the boards' work would terminate at 8 o'clock with the closing of the polls at which time special accounting boards will take over to do the counting and tallying. This, it is believed, will make for more accuracy in checking returns.

Harold DuRoy, who operates the Veteran's Taxi Co., was granted permission to add another taxi to the service. Business has reached a volume warranting the additional cab, DuRoy told the commission.

A motion that the city purchase uniforms for the city police force was made by Mayor Fred Schram but was immediately tabled. Schram expressed the view that if the city could afford to purchase uniforms for volunteer firemen which would be worn only occasionally, it ought to be able to dress its policemen who are in contact with the public at all times when they are on duty.

A Biblical mite was worth less than a quarter of a cent.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all the kind neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father. We are very grateful to Rev. Kjellberg for his consoling words and for the music by Mrs. Viola Olson and Nobel Swenson, to those who so kindly served as pallbearers, donated the use of their cars, sent floral bouquets, those who offered donations and to all others who aided us in so many ways. The memory of these acts of kindness will always remain with us.

Andrew Faketty Seriously Hurt In Muskegon

Andrew Faketty, 39, formerly of Manistique, but for the past five years employed in Muskegon, was seriously hurt in an accident which occurred recently at the Campbell, Wyant and Cannon factory where he was employed.

According to the press clipping received here Tuesday, Faketty and two fellow workers, Edwin Bushen and Marshall Peterson, were injured when they jumped from an elevated position in the foundry after an explosion occurred. Faketty suffered a fracture of the heels and possibly internal injuries. Peterson broke both of his legs and Bushen, who suffered a spinal injury, died in the hospital the next day.

Faketty's condition, according to later reports, is regarded as good. Faketty resided in Manistique practically all his life before leaving for Muskegon and for years was employed as plumber by R. D. Curley.

Senate Committee To Start Study Of Newspaper Shortage

Washington, (AP)—A Senate small business subcommittee, appointed to study the general newspaper situation, decided to concentrate at the start on the newspaper shortage.

Chairman Capehart (R-Ind.) announced a revision of the witness list for public hearings which will open March 4. He said the boxcar shortage has aggravated the newspaper shortage so seriously that immediate consideration of the problem is imperative.

Ed M. Anderson, publisher of the Brevard (N. C.) Transylvania Times and chairman of the National Editorial Association Newspaper committee, will be the first witness. He will be followed by Cronston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association and a member of that association's newspaper emergency committee.

Capehart said that as the hearings proceed, newspaper producers and consumers will be heard, along with interested government officials. Later, consideration will be given to general newspaper problems.

Tuesday Was Moving Day For Siddall Drug And Elite Shop

Tuesday was moving day for two prominent business establishments, the Siddall Drug Company and the Elite Shop trading quarters, each having, several months ago, purchased the building occupied by the other.

He plans on installing new equipment throughout the store and is putting in a strictly modern front. Mrs. John Williams, of the Elite Shop, has not as yet made any announcements as to when she will reopen. The place, it is understood, will not be ready for the regular run of business until after redecoration and some changes in the structure proper are completed.

Child Taken To Hospital After Being Hit By Car

William, Jr., the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mellon, Sr., 156 North Third street, was treated at the Shaw hospital Tuesday evening after being hit by a car driven by Bruce R. Bloom, of Chicago, Ill.

The accident occurred on Deer street in front of the Gardner Hotel about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Although many people were in the vicinity of the mishap, none seems to be know what really occurred. The driver explained that the child ran out on to the street from between two cars and, taken by surprise, he was unable to apply the brakes before it was too late. The child was knocked unconscious and was rushed by ambulance to the Shaw hospital where it was found that all of the injuries were of a minor nature, consisting of bruises about the face and his left leg.

The driver was held blameless, his assertion that he was driving at moderate speed being borne out by the fact that although the child was struck squarely, his injuries were comparatively light.

GLOVE TROPHY IS ON DISPLAY

Evidences Good Showing Recently Made At Milwaukee

A very attractive bronze trophy surrounded by pictures taken at recent Golden Gloves tournaments at Escanaba and Manistique, adorns a local store window.

The trophy is the one presented the Escanaba boxing team the Upper Peninsula boxing team for winnings made at the Milwaukee Golden Gloves two weeks ago.

Among the winners on this team was Bob Barnes, local heavyweight, whose work was highly praised by Milwaukee sports writers.

The display is used to publicize the coming Manistique boxing show to be held at the new high school gymnasium here on the evening of Monday, March 3.

This show, according to Clint Leonard, chairman of the Lions club committee which is sponsoring it, will be, in many ways, even better than the Golden Gloves classics of recent date, because the lads who are participating in it are boys who made good at the tournaments and those who couldn't stand the pace are not booked.

At least six Upper Michigan champs are on the card. There will be at least twelve fast goes.

Organized Baseball Proposal Here Enthusiastically Endorsed

PLAN FOR U. P. CIRCUIT BACKED

3 Clubs Represented In Local Meeting; Others Are Expected

An enthusiastic group of Escanaba baseball fans voted unanimously last night at a meeting held at the city hall to proceed with plans for organization of a local professional baseball club in an organized league in the Upper Peninsula.

Ken Gunderman, Daily Press sports editor, was appointed temporary chairman to arrange plans for development of the Escanaba club.

Clinton Hodges, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, who operated a club at Ogdensburg, New York, last season, attended the meeting in Escanaba last night and outlined the procedures necessary to establish a league in organized baseball.

The meeting was conducted on an informal basis and it included a cross fire of questions and answers, with the group in attendance indicating keen interest in the plans for development of the league.

Also in attendance at the meeting were Jimmie Manci and Curley Valenti, of Iron Mountain. Manci is interested in developing a club in Iron Mountain.

Play Daily Schedule

The plan provides for the formation of a six team league in the Upper Peninsula, subject to the approval of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Three clubs are already virtually assured—Iron Mountain, Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, interested also in developing in Menominee-Marquette, in Crystal Falls-Iron River and in several other communities of the Upper Peninsula. Hodges and Manci will attend a meeting of interested citizens at Crystal Falls tonight, at which baseball enthusiasts from Iron River also will attend.

The proposed league would operate on a daily basis, playing a schedule of approximately 120 games during the season. The players would, of course, be professionals, mainly youngsters just breaking into organized baseball. The league would operate on a maximum salary limit of $1800 per club per month.

A six team league is desired and with three clubs already virtually assured, it is probable that this number can be reached. The circuit could be operated successfully the first season with four teams, if necessary, Hodges told the baseball enthusiasts.

The cost of financing a club was estimated by Hodges at approximately $5,000, including working capital to finance the club after initial expenses are met.

The value of organized baseball in a community and the impetus it provides for all types of baseball and softball were among the factors stressed at last night's meeting.

The group in attendance at the meeting at the city hall included a number of veteran baseball players of Escanaba.

Admiral Succeeds Crowley As Czar Of All-Americans

Los Angeles, Feb. 26 (AP)—Adm. Jonas Howard Ingram, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet until last September, was named today as commissioner of the All-American Football Conference.

Appointment of the ruddy-faced 60-year-old four-star admiral was announced at a press luncheon by Ben F. Lindheimer, temporary commissioner of the conference and chief stockholder of the Los Angeles club. Ingram was present.

Ingram was a backfield star at Annapolis in 1905-06 and is one of three brothers long associated in collegiate and service sports. The length of his contract with the conference was not disclosed. He succeeds Jimmy Crowley, who resigned to coach the Chicago team of the All-American.

Mayer Auctions Off Race Horse Stable Worth One Million

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—Movie executive Louis B. Mayer, who went into horse racing as a hobby in 1938 and has since collected more than $1,700,000 in prize money, figures to realize upwards of $1,000,000 when his valuable stable—60 head of stock—goes on the auction block at Santa Anita park tomorrow night.

Speculation centers on the amount the sale will bring and the highest price for individual stars.

Public interest rested on four thoroughbreds—Busher, Honey-moon, Stepfather and Be Faithful—but Stepfather, a strong eligible for the $100,000 Santa Anita derby March 8, may bring the top cash.

STIQUE BOXING SHOW MONDAY

At Least Six Upper Michigan Champs On The Card

Manistique—Local fight fans (and the town is full of them) are all pepped up over the prospects of Monday night's boxing show to be staged at the new high school gym under the auspices of the Manistique Lions Club.

Impressed by the fact that at least six of the boys who fought at the Golden Glove finals at Milwaukee will be on the local card, pitted against some of the toughest talent in this area, the sponsors are not hesitating in saying that this will be the best show in Upper Michigan this year.

Pairings are not as yet fully completed but will be announced in a day or two.

A special treat is being provided by the sponsors in the arrangement of a least four bouts by Silver Glovers. Silver Glovers, it is explained, are scrappy kids ranging in age from 10 to 13 and weighing from 75 to 100.

TRACKMEN INJURED

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 26 (AP)—The Illinois-Purdue dual track meet scheduled for Champaign Saturday was cancelled today at Purdue's request because some of the Purdue team's members were injured in the collapse of the Purdue field house bleachers Monday night, causing death to three and injury to 300.

LINEUP REVISED FOR ESKYMOS

Gustafson Is Ineligible For Kingsford Game Friday

The Eskymos basketball team, plagued with woes all season in one form or another, ran into some more misfortune this week with the announcement that Warren Gustafson, sophomore center who had worked his way to a starting position on the varsity team, will be ineligible for the Kingsford game here Friday night. Gustafson is sidelined this week because of scholastic difficulties.

Cota, who has played the pivot position most of the season for the Eskymos, will be back in that spot Friday against the Flivvers and will have the rather unenviable task of stopping the Kingsford high scorer, Keith Gunville.

Hirn and Abrahamson will start at forwards and Deane and Lough are slated for the guard positions in a revision of the Eskymo lineup designed to break the losing streak that has extended through 11 games.

The Eskymo Reserves will play the junior high school team in a preliminary game Friday night.

NEW SKI LIFT IN ADIRONDACKS

Electrically - Operated Tow Is Installed At North Creek, N. Y.

North Creek, N. Y., (NEA)—Determined to improve still further the opportunities nature gave it when it placed a 3000-foot mountain in its backyard, the tiny Adirondack village of North Creek has installed the first electrically-operated Constant-bar ski lift in the eastern United States. The lift pulls skiers up the entire 3000-foot slope of Gore Mountain.

The money, as for previous skiing improvements, was raised by the 703 inhabitants of North Creek a name synonymous with pioneering in New York state winter sports development.

It was at North Creek that the first ski patrol in the United States was organized, the first down-mountain ski trail in New York State was laid out, where the first snow train in the state went, March 2, 1934.

Ride Up, Slide Down North Creek pioneered the "Ride Up, Slide Down" slogan, arranging for buses to carry skiers from the bottom of the trails up the winding mountain road, which leads to noted garnet mines and the beginning of five well-known trails.

The combined investment in lift, slopes, but and other facilities provided by the village promoters aggregate more than $70,000.

From a promontory the skier looks down into the mines and across to the sheer rock walls hung with various-hued icicles sparkling in the sun. Hard by are high peaks, forming a startling panoramic view of mountain grandeur in winter dress. At the skier's feet are the headwaters of the Hudson River.

Jeweled Trails A city block from the mines is a 1400-foot tow leading to trails rated for novice, intermediate and expert, which end at the foot of the mountain along the state road. Cloud and Garnet Trails, which range the higher slopes, are for experts and intermediates. Villagers assert that nowhere else can one ski on such jeweled trails with changing vistas of high mountain peaks. Garnet Trail is a mile long, has a drop of 1000 feet.

Skiers have been flocking to North Creek for years for the simple reason that snow lies deep on the slopes, which rise to an elevation of 3595 feet.

Soft Ballers First Meeting On Tuesday

The first spring meeting of the Escanaba Softball Association has been called for next Tuesday, March 4, by A. A. Schabow, secretary of the association. The meeting will take place in the council chambers of the city hall at 7:30 p. m.

Some of the business to be taken up:

The meeting will hear a report by the Board of Directors upon the lighting of the field; a report by the insurance committee, Jerome Deloria, chairman; a report by the committee in charge of field rental, under George La-Crosse; a report by George Greenholm, city recreation director, upon the available soft ball fields. In addition, other pertinent business will be discussed.

President Schabow urges that all sponsors, managers and captains be present. And he particularly urges the attendance of all umpires, who also belong to the association. New umpires especially are asked to attend, for at this meeting the application of new umpires will be taken up.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Glenn Ray, Soo, Ontario bantamweight, lost a decision in the opening round of the Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago Monday night. Ray fought Robert Bell, Cleveland Negro, and was outpointed because he started too slowly. Realizing that he was trailing after the first two rounds, Ray put on a spirited rally in the third when he did his best punching but it was too late. As evidence that he was somewhat stale, Ray failed to use his left, his best weapon, with the aggressiveness that characterized his previous bouts.

Boxing fans in this area will see a spirited show at Manistique next Monday when the Manistique Lions club presents its annual spring boxing matches. Pairings are now being arranged and will be announced shortly. As usual in matches of this kind, some changes may be necessitated after the weigh-in in Monday to conform to AAU weight restrictions. The program will include about a dozen bouts and the interest developing in the show indicates a capacity crowd.

The next boxing program in Escanaba will be held early in April and it probably will include the annual Silver Gloves show for youngsters as a prelude to the main card for fighters 16 years of age and older. Also plans are developing for a big outdoor boxing show as a feature of the Hiawatha Festival on the Fourth of July. Boxers from Milwaukee have promised to compete in the show along with outstanding boxers from all sections of the Upper Peninsula.

The Escanaba Softball association is getting ready for its biggest season in history. The association will hold its first meeting on March 4 at the city hall council chambers. Sponsors, managers and team captains will attend, which means that organization of teams for the leagues should be developing now.

Schabow reported yesterday that the opening meeting will cover a broad range of subjects, all of vital interest to softball development in the community.

Iron Mountain is prepared for its biggest ski tournament in history Sunday, and the big question is whether the power riders from this country and Scandinavia can better Torger Tokle's 289 foot American record at Pine Mountain. The record was set by Tokle on the huge Pine Mountain scaffold. There even is excited talk of a 300 foot jump, long sought goal of American riders. It can happen Sunday and if it does, it will be witnessed by a crowd of approximately 25,000 fans. That's the estimate of the crowd anticipated for the big event at Pine Mountain.

In most instances, the style-wise European skiers are considered superior to the American-born stars when it comes to form while sailing through the air. But, the question of who's who in the power jumping department may be answered here Sunday.

Pine Mountain, highest artificial slide in the world and holder of all four North American records, provides the ideal setting for the anticipated duel. The records set on the skyscraper slide in 1942 are: Class A—289 feet; Class B—260 feet; Class C—261 feet and senior division, 238 feet.

Among Europe's finest to be here to challenge the American power-jumping supremacy will be Eric Lindstrom, four-time Swedish champion, and Arnold Kongsgaard, Ragnar Baklid, Gustav Raam, Odd Harsheim, and Harald Hauge, of the Norway team, and William Gunderson, another Norway star riding for the Chicago Norge Ski Club.

Carrying the American distance torch will be Ralph Bietila, Wilbert Rasmussen and Joe Perrault, aces from Ishpeming, Mich.; Gene Wilson, riding for the Chicago Norge Club; Ted Zoberski, Ironwood, Mich.; Jimmy Running, F. U. Claire, Wis.; Sverre Fredheim, St. Paul, Minn.; Jimmy Hendricksen, Eau Claire; Roy Bietila, Iron Mountain; Raymond Nelson, Beloit, Wis.; and a host of others.

Most of the American jumpers have leaped 270 feet or more on Pine Mountain during previous meets. Kongsgaard appears to be the most powerful leaper of the European riders. He holds Norway's distance record of 295 feet—six feet better than the 289-footer set by Torger Tokle here in 1942.

The impressive entry list of the national meet at Ishpeming is expected to move here en masse for Sunday's assault on the four North American marks.

Mary Agnes Wall Wins By Default At Ormond Beach

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—All of the favorites won their first-round matches today in the South Atlantic women's golf tournament over the Ormond Beach Club course.

Miss Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., medalist in the qualifying round yesterday, won by default over Mae Murray, the young Vermont State champion.

Miss Murray has been ill the past week with influenza but got out of bed yesterday and qualified for the championship flight. However her doctor ordered her to remain indoors today.

Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Zaharias, who is seeking her sixth consecutive victory in Florida today, meant play last winter, defeated little Patricia Harrington of Steubenville, Ohio, 2 and 1.

ROY CULLENBINE ON FIRST BASE

Ex - Outfielder Slated To Fill Greenberg's Shoes For Tigers

Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Batting broken bones, a sudden trade, or a miraculous performance by some rookie, ex-outfielder Roy Cullenbine is slated to fill the yawning gap on first base left by the departure of Ex-Tiger Hank Greenberg.

It's the toughest job on the 1947 Detroit baseball club and Roy knows it.

"I'm getting to know it better every time I think about it," Cullenbine declared. "I guess maybe I'm worrying about it a little bit but actually it's a real challenge to me and in my own mind I'm convinced I'm at my best when the chips are really down."

Cullenbine covered first base in only 21 games in 1946. Reviewing his up-and-down, in-and-out baseball career that covered both major leagues and 12 different ball clubs, he remarked:

"I guess my career has been just daffy enough to warrant me making a change."

Cullenbine recalled how he started out as a switch hitter.

"It's kind of funny how I found out I could hit from either side," he declared. "I'm naturally right-handed. Do everything that way."

"But when I was a kid back in Detroit I was just one more younger whippersnapper was Charley Gehring. One day I saw him have a field day with that left-handed stance of his so the next afternoon I decided to see what I could do from that side of the plate."

"I was lucky, I guess, because I stepped into one and knocked it out of the park. That was the start and I've been switching ever since."

"After all, you can shave with either hand, can't you?" he added. Manager Steve O'Neill, meanwhile, is hoping that two other outfielders, Hoot Evers and Dick Wakefield, will take up some of the slack in the Tiger batting attack created by the departure of Greenberg.

"This will be the year for both of them," Stein insisted, as he watched the pair go through initial hitting drills. "I don't think I'm doing any limb-crawling at all by saying they'll both hit often and for lots of distance."

Both players are stronger, heavier and more experienced than they were last year and O'Neill admits he is banking on the law of averages to make up for the injuries that plagued Evers and Wakefield in 1946.

"It's unlikely that either will put in another summer like the last one," Steve said. "They had enough broken bones and bruises between them to ordinarily take care of an entire ball club."

Nahma Atomites Ready For Harris

The Nahma High School Atomites will be seeking their sixth victory of the season Thursday night against the Harris high school team. The two teams are evenly-matched with like records, so it should be a thrilling game. The Atomites defeated the Rangumete team earlier in the season but since then, the Bark River-Harris squad has come a long way with recent victories over Cooks and Trenary. The Atomites defeated Trenary last week, but lost a ragged game Friday to Cooks by an overwhelming score.

Nahma was playing without their regular center, Kenneth Sheedlo, who has been removed from the team indefinitely for insubordination.

The 7th and 8th grades will meet at 7:20 E.S.T., and the main event will be at 8:30 E.S.T.

The lineup for the Atomites will be Phalen and Newhouse at forward, Mercier at Center, Miller and Smith at guard with Atkinson, F. Gereau, and R. Gereau in reserve.

Commenting on reports that he had received a substantial bonus and salary clause, command said his contract was "very satisfactory."

Command, who plays second base or the outfield, hit .410 in the City Recreation League last summer and was the Grand Rapids Press representative in the All-American baseball tryouts in Detroit last summer.

HOWLING CROWD CHEERS BOXERS

Golden Gloves Fighters Finish Quarter Finals At Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 26 (AP)—A howling crowd of 16,500 cheered 32 amateur boxers—among the best in the nation—as they fought their way through the quarter final round of the Golden Gloves tournament of champions in the Chicago Stadium tonight for the right to return for the semi-finals and finals March 7.

The winning boxers were survivors from 39 centers in 29 states from an original starting cast of 50,000 amateur swingers.

Billy Guernsey, 16-year-old high school lad of Minneapolis, and Pat Lowery, youngster from Toledo, O., appeared to be much the best of the flyweight mites.

Guernsey won his quarter final bout in disposing of Francis Fitzgerald, St. Louis, Mo., in their three-rounder. He had Fitz on the canvass in the second and staggered him with another right when he regained his feet.

Lowery scored a technical two-round knockout over Charles Davis, Springfield, Ill.

A pair of Indian lads—Benny Cleveland, Los Angeles, and Washie Stover, 22-year-old naval veteran from Eufaula, Okla., shared honors in the 118-pound quarter finals.

Stover although handicapped by a right eye nearly swollen shut, chalked up his third consecutive victory in outgaming Clinton Isom, Grand Rapids, Mich., in their three-rounder. Cleveland, with a whirlwind offense, scored a technical two-round knockout over Louis McKeever, Gary, Ind.

The class of the 126-pound division involved Connie Stamps, Kansas City, Mo., negro lad with dynamite in both fists; Eddie Marotta, Cleveland, and Keith Nuttall, Bingham City, Utah.

Stamps won his third consecutive bout by flattening the highly regarded Billy Henderson, student at Texas Tech, Levelland, Texas, in one round. Nuttall, 1946, 112-pound titlist, barely managed to defeat Luther Rawlings, Chicago, while Marotta had the best of Wallace Smith, Cincinnati.

Virgil Atkins, dusky southpaw from St. Louis, made the most impressive showing among the 135-pounders with a two-round knockout over Sylvester Simmons, Indianapolis, Ind.

Jack Keough, a Cleveland Irish boxer, and Eddie Lara, Oklahoma Indian, made the best showing in the 147 pound class. Keough, after previously defeating Richard Leland, Gary, Ind., came back to score a three-round technical knockout over Norris Ray, Bastrop, La. Lara also won by a TKO in the third, stopping Alma Longstroth, Ogden, Utah.

In the 160 pound class, Nick Rangan, Chicago, Wendy Morris, Kansas City, Mo., and John Hornik, of Cleveland, showed to excellent advantage. Ranker knocked out Neil Schaub, Minneapolis, in the first round, while Morris stopped Virgil Uichowskiak, Grand Rapids, Mich., on a technical knockout in the second round. Hornik outpointed Earl Wenbourne, Sioux City, Ia.

Purdue Cagers Use Butler Fieldhouse

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 26 (AP)—The Indiana-Purdue basketball game scheduled for next Monday night in the Purdue fieldhouse will be played in the Butler University fieldhouse at Indianapolis, Athletic director Guy Mackey of Purdue said tonight.

Mackey said also that negotiations were under way with K. L. (Tug) Wilson, Western Conference commissioner, and Harry Stuhldreher, athletic director at Wisconsin, to arrange to play the second half of the interrupted Wisconsin-Purdue game at a place and date to be decided.

Purdue was leading, 34 to 33, when play was interrupted.

A 100-foot section of bleacher seats in the Purdue fieldhouse collapsed last Monday night just after the first half of the Wisconsin-Purdue game ended, causing fatal injuries to three students and injuring more than 250 other persons.

Ferris Institute Cager Signs With Phillies For 1947

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 26 (AP)—Jim Command of Grand Rapids, high scorer of Ferris Institute's basketball team, said today that he has signed a contract with the Philadelphia Phillies of the National baseball league.

The six-foot, one-inch, 190-pound Command said he had been farmed out to the Terre Haute, Ind. team of the Three-Eye league and will report to their Dversburg, Tenn. training camp April 1.

Commenting on reports that he had received a substantial bonus and salary clause, command said his contract was "very satisfactory."

Command, who plays second base or the outfield, hit .410 in the City Recreation League last summer and was the Grand Rapids Press representative in the All-American baseball tryouts in Detroit last summer.

"Yeah, I feel okay. How about you?"
